NEW-YORK CITY.

The annual subscription dinner of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club will be given at the elubliouse, No. 19 East Twenty-second-st., on Wednesday, May 5, at 7 p. m. It developed vesterday that the settlement of the which existed between the Master Steam and Hot Water Fitters' Association and the Enterprise Association of Steam Fitters has not by any means ended the trouble in the building The Board of Delegates has decided to support the Progress Association of Steam Fitters' Helpers, which is about seven hundred strong, in its fight against the bosses, who refused to grant them an advance of 25 cents a day in wages. The steamfitters will report again for work this morning, but there will be no helpers to go with them. etings were given at the Railroad Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association yester-day. In the afternoon D. A. Waterman, treasurer of the Michigan Central Railroad, spoke to sixty-ave rathroad men on "The Life of Daniel." In the vening a special religious meeting was given for ilroad men and their families. This was the first its kind in the history of the railroad men's building. The hall was comfortably filled. George Warburton presided. The singing, in charge of was spirited. The speakers were railroad men from Albany, Troy, Springfield and ng Island. Mrs. S. B. Anderson sang, and orge E. McNeille, H. E. Rhodes and James H. Dawson were the Committee of Arrangements.

Captain Steincken, of the North German Lleyd steamship Weimar, which arrived here yesterday from Bremen, reported that while steaming down the English Channel a steerage passenger, a hunch-back named Gottlieb Strum, jumped overboard. The ship's engines were reversed full speed and a boat was lowered, but after it had got away from the ship the man's dead body was discovered fleating close alongside and was picked up. It was afterward burled at sea. La Gascogne, which also arrived yesterday, reported that a Hungarian passenger named Sielbnacht had disappeared in the course of the voyage.

Delegate Lehmann, of the Germania Waiters' Union, complained to the Central Labor Union yes-terday that fifty-two waiters who had been engaged to attend the militiamen in the armories for the Grant ceremonies were to be paid only $4 each for three days' work. Lehmann said that he called on Mayor Strong in relation to the matter and that the Mayor referred him to General Dedge. At the armories he was told that as the militiamen paid only $1 a day for their meals the caterers could not afford to pay the waiters more.

war college. Some of the officers do not favor suc a college, on the ground that "overmuch study tends to weaken character." One opponent says: "We require in the ordinary naval officer, the com-mander, the lieutenant and the sub-lieutenant, the capacity to lead men, which necessarily involves g character, quickness of decision and cour-Another says: "We do not want bookworms for these will invariably fail in the handling of men and in the moment of a crisis." Another wants attention to be given first to the need of promotion and he advocates that this be made by selection rather than by seniority. He fortifies his position by quoting Napoleon, who said: "Genius does not as men imagine, reveal to me suddenly and secretly what to do-it is study, reflection, meditation.' Another critic says: "A man who would be a very poor admiral may make an excellent captain, just as on land there are generals who are all that could

One of the English service journals recently had this to say about the Turkish navy: "After all, the Turkish navy has succeeded in getting a squadron to sea, composed of one fairly modern and four very ancient ironclads, besides a gunboat, a torpedo gunboat and two torpedo-boats. The best ship is the Hamidyeh, of 6,700 tons, launched in 1885 and armed with ten 10.2-inch Krupps. On paper this squadron will be a hard nut for the Greek fleet to crack, but in real fact I imagine that it will be capable of very little work. Even the best fronclads, without trained officers and men, are useless-much more such rusty, dilapidated vessels as those composing the Turkish squadron. Still, every day will add to the efficiency of the ships and the training of the en. If the Greeks mean fighting they are throwing away their golden opportunity.

A specimen 12-inch projectile, weighing $50 pounds, for the wire gun, has had a successful test in England. It pierced an 18-inch compound plate, backed by a 6-inch wrought fron plate, eight feet of oak and another 3-inch iron plate. After passing through and another 3-inch iron plate. After passing through all of these it was found deeply imbedded in a bank of clay behind the target. On July 12, 1894, a pro-jectile of the same weight and calibre was experi-mented with in the United States, and it perforated

M. Jean de la Poulaine, in a recent article in a French journal, makes some caustic criticisms on naval matters and men. One sentence reads: "Of all the naval officers in Europe and North America, the worst educated in all matters are indisputably those of the British fleet." Of Sir George Tryon he says: "He terminated his career misernally, causing the loss of $25 men and of a battle-ship of the first class, and that entirely through his own fault and in spite of repeated remonstrances."

The new Japanese battle-ship Fusi has had her steam trials, and they were eminently successful. Under forced draught her engines gave 14,100 horse-power and a speed of 1814 knots.

A BENEVOLENT ORDER IN TROUBLE. Detroit, Mich., April 25.-Thomas J. Parker, Grand Commander for Michigan of the Order of Knights of the Red Cross, and James Eaken, chairman of the Supreme Trustees of the organization, have begun suit to enjoin Sven Windrow, of Chicago, supreme president, and certain other officers and members of the Council, from performing duties of said officers, and for the appointment of a reof said officers, and for the appointment of a re-ceiver for the order until a meeting of the Supreme Commandery can be held to elect new officers. Robert S. Carter, grand commander of the order for Ohlo, is suggested as receiver. Various charges of mismanagement, improper levying of assess-ments, etc., are made against the defendants. The order has a membership of some four thousand.
